South-Carolina GAZETTE.

From THURSDAY February 27th, to THURSDAY March 6th, 1755.

LONDON, December 10.

WE hear that an honourable perſon on Wedneſday reſigned a very conſiderable poſt, which he had held ſome years.

We hear that general Braddock, commander in chief of the forces who are gone upon the expedition to Virginia, has received ſuch proper inſtructions touching his conduct in that command, as cannot fail of gaining the deſired ſucceſs.

'Tis reported that this expedition will coſt the ſum of 100,000 l. ſterling.

Dec. 14. We hear that there is to be a proper proviſion made by act of parliament, in behalf of the forces to be employed in Virginia, and other parts of America, in the ſame manner as if they were employed in Great-Britain, or in any foreign parts, as in caſe of a war.

We hear that a further ſum of money will be granted for defraying ſome extraordinary expences for the expedition to Virginia, againſt the encroachments of the French.

It is now ſaid that the right hon. the earl of Egmont will be appointed ſecretary of ſtate, in the room of ſir Thomas Robinſon, who will be made Pay maſter General of the forces in the room of the right hon. William Pitt, Eſq.

Dec. 19. According to the laſt advices from Stockholm, great attention was paid by the foreign miniſters reſiding there to the motions of count Giſors, who it is known is intruſted with a ſecret commiſſion, and many fancy that they diſcover at leaſt a part of its object in the aſſiduity and correctneſs with which he has viewed the forces both by land and ſea of three great crowns.

The freſheſt accounts from Modena treat the journey of the duke de Penthievre in very diſ- [illegible] hand to certain affairs of importance, and others that he found it impracticable to ſet on foot any negotiation. It is very remarkable that both conjectures are founded on the rapidity of his progreſs.

Dec. 21. On Wedneſday laſt his majeſty's ſhip the Centurion, and the Cruizer ſloop of war, ſailed from the Downs for Virginia, with forces on board.

Dec. 24. We hear that the hon. Charles Townſhend, Eſq; one of the lords of the admiralty, will be appointed a lord of the treaſury; and that Thomas Potter, Eſq; will ſucceed Mr. Townſhend in the admiralty.

We hear from Vienna, that all the late differences between that court and that of Berlin were accommodated, and that a treaty of amity was on the point of being ſigned by the reſpective principals.

Dec. 26. A private letter from Paris acquaints us, that the court begin to ſuſpect the main deſign of the clergy, in all the diſturbances they have for ſome years paſt been ſtirring up, was only to parry the ſcheme of the late comptroller general of the finances to make them bear a part of the public burthen. This is ſo much the more probable, as none but the prelates, and ſuch of the inferior clergy, who are immediately under their influence, promote theſe diſorders.

Our laſt advices from Spain intimate, that the cardinal infant, when he diveſted himſelf of the eccleſiaſtical dignity, believed that he ſhould be able to retain the revenues of the rich biſhopricks of Toledo and Seville; but he has not found the court of Rome ſo tractable as he hoped it would have been; for the Pope, it ſeems, has anſwered him, that complying with his expectation was contrary to the laws of the church, and might have injurious conſequences; that it was very true this preſumption was not without example, but that to conſent to one of the ſame nature again would open a door, by another precedent, to greater miſchiefs: So that the infant, who is not a little expenſive, finds a chance to be in a great meaſure diveſted of revenue as well as power and dignity, if his holineſs, or the king, ſhould [illegible] rich benefices without making a reſervation for him out of them, as he be not otherwiſe allowed a penſion; ſince his marriage with the ſecond infanta of Portugal, will not compenſate for what he has parted with, and his Portugueze majeſty does not ſeem diſpoſed to give him the dutcheſs of Beira, his eldeſt daughter. If all this be true, the queen dowager of Spain has, as the proverb ſays, reckoned without her hoſt.

Dec. 28. His excellency count Czernichow will ſhortly give a moſt ſuperb entertainment to the nobility and gentry upon the birth of prince Paul Petrowitz, ſon to the duke of Holſtein Gottorp, grand duke of Ruſſia, and heir apparent of that Empire, and Somerſet-Houſe is, by his majeſty's permiſſion, now fitting up for that purpoſe.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, Dec. 15.

"Whatever the generality of people may think on your ſide of the water, or whatever may be the ſentiments of the Gaſcons here, ſome of the moſt ſenſible of the French Politicians are by no means ſatisfied with what has been done upon the Ohio, and when you hear their reaſons I think you will be convinced that they do not diſſemble, but ſpeak their real ſentiments, and have at the ſame time good grounds for what they ſay.

"They obſerve, that the French colonies in North-America are not in any ſituation to maintain a war without aſſiſtance from Europe, and therefore they think it is none of the wiſeſt ſteps to begin one. They further remark, that the ſcheme of tracing a military line from the frontiers of Canada to Miſſiſippi is a vaſt undertaking, which they want force to ſupport; that it muſt equally alarm the Indians and the Engliſh; and that the latter have nothing to do but to put the former upon conſidering their own intereſt, offering them their friendſhip and aſſiſtance, and ſtrengthening theſe arguments by preſents, to place the French between two fires, and to render their ſcheme abortive before it can be half executed. Beſides, ſay they, the great end of colonies abroad, is to cultivate a rich country, to render themſelves populous, and to tranſport the fruits of their induſtry to their mother country: This the Engliſh in thoſe parts are able to do; and the French, by attempting to do it too ſoon, will never be able to do it at all. Some think that a certain miniſter will loſe his credit, by having countenanced this project.

"Some people reaſon in the ſame manner in reference to affairs in the Eaſt-Indies, and are ſo far from conſidering Mr. Dupleix as the ableſt governor they ever had, that they make no ſcruple of affirming he has ſacrificed the company's ſolid and eſſential intereſts to his own ambition, and for this reaſon would be very glad to ſee the convention with the Engliſh company fairly ſigned, that they might have an opportunity of putting things on a right foot, and attend to commerce inſtead of conqueſts."

ANNAPOLIS, (in Maryland) Dec. 19.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in London, to his Friend here, dated Auguſt 15, 1754.

"The Death of Mr. Pelham has not occaſioned any great Alterations. The Duke of Newcaſtle being now at the Head of the Treaſury, ſo that public Affairs go on in the ſame Channel; but an Incident has lately happened at the Court of Madrid, which I hope will be of great Service to this Nation, and that is, the Removal of Enſenada the prime Miniſter, who after a Conference of ſome Hours with the King, was ſeized when he got Home, and ſent to the Caſtle at Granada, his firſt Secretary was ſent to that of Valladolid, and all their Papers ſecured: This has been done by the Advice of an old Grandee, entirely in the Spaniſh and not French Intereſt. Wall, who was here Embaſſador, is now prime Miniſter, ſo that we flatter ourſelves that the French Intereſt is at an End in that Court, for as the old Spaniards have now the Power, they will always keep it, and I hope keep to the old Spaniſh Maxim, Peace with England, and War with all the World. Enſenada had given Orders to deſtroy all our Ships in the Bay of Honduras and Muſquetto Shore, without the King's Privity or Knowledge, but ſince his Removal, Orders are gone to countermand thoſe: And in Caſe they ſhould be put in Execution, our Embaſſador has been aſſured that full Satisfaction ſhall be made for any Damage that may be done, by Virtue of thoſe Orders, to any of his Majeſty's Subjects."

The two Regiments from Ireland, and the Officers for Shirley's and Pepperell's Regiments, under the Convoy of ſix Men of War, are expected daily, as they were to ſail ſhortly after the Gibraltar came away.
